CURRENT COMMENTS

DEATH OF MR. MCKENZIE

The very sudden death of the provincial treasurer has caused a widespread sorrow among all classes of politicians. Even those who were greatly opposed to him in politics are amongst those who are united in their praise of him as a man. For some time the health of the deceased statesman has been the cause of much anxiety, but nothing serious was anticipated until within a short time of his death. Public life has sustained a genuine loss. The late Malcolm McKenzie was a good fighter, and however much one might disagree with him and the politics that he supported, one could not fail to acknowledge the great ability and earnestness that he brought to the discharge of his duties.

The body of the late Mr. McKenzie passed through here on Sunday evening for Macleod, where the funeral took place on Monday. Premier Sifton and several members of the legislature were in attendance at the funeral.

The Redistribution Bill

The map of the province, divided into fifty-six constituencies, was placed upon the table of the house on Monday. According to the plan the Nanton and High River constituencies are not altered at all, or but very little. The part that most concerns this district we give below:

Little Bow is bounded on the east by Leithbridge District to the latter's northerly limit and then by the dividing line between townships nineteen and twenty, on the north by the dividing line between ranges eighteen and nineteen, on the west by the dividing line between townships twenty-four and twenty-five, and on the south by the dividing line between ranges ten and eleven.

Clareholm is bounded on the east by the dividing line between townships twenty-four and twenty-five and a small part of the Old Man river, on the south by the dividing line between ranges nine and ten and as far west as the division between townships twenty-seven and twenty-eight, and then the dividing line between ranges eight and nine; on the west by the dividing line between townships one and two west of the fifth, for one row of township, then one township further west for two rows and one row further west for two more townships; on the north by the dividing line between ranges thirteen and fourteen.

Nanton is bounded on the east by the Little Bow riding, on the south by Clareholm, on the north by the line dividing ranges sixteen and seventeen, on the west by the line dividing townships three and four west of the fifth.

High River is bounded on the east by the Little Bow, on the south by Nanton, on the north by the dividing line between ranges eighteen and nineteen, on the west by the dividing line between townships four and five west of the fifth.

Railway Wreck near Stavelly

Perhaps one of the worst railway wrecks that has occurred in Alberta, took place on Sunday morning last, about six o'clock, a mile or two south of Stavelly. Two engines and twelve freight cars were badly smashed up, and fireman Ulley of the south-bound freight train was instantly killed, his body being mangled beyond recognition, being the result, besides tying up the traffic, but not so much as if the accident had occurred on any other day. It became necessary on Sunday to bring passenger train No. 537 to Calgary via Kipp, over the Alderley branch, the train being several hours late. The engineer and fireman of the north-bound freight saw the other train coming in time to reverse the engine and make good their escape. A brakeman belonging to the south-bound freight was afterward found buried up to his neck in coal dumped from the tender of the engine, which probably saved his life from the scalding steam issuing from the boiler of the engine on the pile of coal. The wrecked engines and smashed-up cars were a mass of debris and confusion that beggars description. One or two of the wrecked cars were refrigerators, which had been burst open by the impact, and their contents, consisting of ham, lard tins, carcasses of hogs, nut, fruit of all kinds, candies, tobacco, barrels of beer, &c., &c., together with machinery of all kinds, were scattered all over the track and sides in every direction and strange to say, some of the things in the beer barrels, in fact, struck some sharp stones and knocked in, and the contents wasted—not on your life! The empty barrels were safely gathered in later. Much of the candies and tobacco were thrown into the mud bank—and rescued, and many jaws, so it is said, have been wagging ever since. The scene of the wreck was visited by a large crowd all day on Sunday. The remains of what was left of fireman Ulley were put in a box and shipped to Calgary where he resided. The cause of the wreck appears to have been due to the engineer of the north-bound train having read his orders wrong, which read he was to go on to Pulteney, a siding between Clareholm and Stavelly, and wait there for the south-bound train to pass, instead he which he mistook the word Pulteney for Parkland, and sent through at top speed.

At the Conservative convention held in Clareholm on Tuesday Dr. McMillan of Granum was nominated for the legislature assembly. The convention was the largest ever held in that constituency.

Antoni Selander, a naturalized Swede, of St. Gabriel de Brandon, Quebec, has discovered what he asserts to be a simple but certain means of withstanding attacks from military airships. He will not divulge his discovery except to Col. Sam Hughes. He is certain he can convince all military authorities, and he wants his method to be employed for the defense of the British Empire alone. "My method is so simple that a child could use it, and yet I can prove that it will result in destroying airships at any height, visible or invisible, in any weather." Selander was a former officer in the Swedish army. He came to Canada six years ago.

Now is the time to see about that new spring harness. Don't leave it to the very last minute, and then be disappointed. Leave your order at once with J. W. Bradley.

Of Interest to Homesteaders

The Associated Boards of Trade of Southern Alberta have sent the following bulletin to the secretaries of all the boards of trade in Alberta, urging that an endorsement of it to be sent to the minister of agriculture:

Whereas, the homestead regulations prior to February 1, 1908, provided that the homesteader might apply and receive his patent by keeping upon his land during his residential term 20 head of cattle; and,

Whereas, under the new regulations this clause was abandoned and the breaking of 20 acres strictly adhered to, which, while not burdensome, involves the expenditure of moneys which might be used by the homesteader in a different manner, as the cost of breaking, seed, seeding, fencing, implements, etc., is no inconsiderable sum, and is reported to be in practically 75 per cent. of the cases done on credit with the prospects for a crop as security, which with live stock permissible the initial expense, involving much indebtedness and heavy interest charges, could be eliminated, therefore, be it

Resolved, that in furthering the interest in mixed farming in the prairie provinces, and especially in Southern Alberta, it is the opinion of the executive of the Associate Boards of Trade of Southern Alberta, that more tangible results of prosperity will obtain through having provision for an alternate, as under the old Dominion land regulations, said alternate to be optional with the homesteader, provided a designated value of improvements in live stock shall be considered, and we respectfully bring this matter to the attention of the Dominion government and urge consideration of the remedy herein suggested and recommended by such changes of the regulations as will conform.

At the Conservative convention held in Clareholm on Tuesday Dr. McMillan of Granum was nominated for the legislature assembly. The convention was the largest ever held in that constituency.

THIS CAT CAN TALK

Sings in Tune Melody of Three German Popular Songs.
Hamburg—Peter, a large tomcat, who is said to talk and sing, is the latest sensation in Hamburg.
The cat is the property of Doctor Storck, a woman dentist, who claims it when quite young starting on one of the docks.

She has trained it in such a remarkable degree that the animal brought almost human intelligence.
Not only witnesses confirm Doctor Storck's statements, but Peter distinctly understands the German words Anna, burrah, more, Helena, no, enough.

Using a crowing, however, it is declared that the cat, employed in monotonous "la-la-lah" sings in tune the melodies of three German songs, and that the words she utters are spoken with marvellous appropriateness to the occasion.

In claim going to serve at the church social tonight.
No. She didn't get her cap and nurse done in time to have her nails manicured.

The girl who can't have faith in three men at the same time has no business trying to be a summer girl.
You never saw a man wear his new suit in order to make another man jealous.

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves' Worm Expeller.

A Sure Sign

The minister was coming to dinner and the usual preparations had been made to receive the good man in a pleasant time. Dishes that would make the mouth water were in the oven, and the best silverware was on the table.

At last the visitor came. He was greeted by the daughter of the house, a small girl but one big enough to know better.

"How do you come, I said."
And how did you know I was coming?"

What bird told me.

"What sort of a little bird?"
A chicken.

How He Did It

"How did you see, Uncle George?" How did I see?" responded the old southern dandy.
Yes, sir.

In my mind, said.

PARROT PREVENTS MURDER
Assassin Mistakes His Voice for That of Man and Wife

Bureau.—A pet parrot recently played an important part in a tragedy in a suburb of Brussels, recently.

An old woman named Koenigstein, reputed to be a miser, was strangled by a burglar who entered her lodgings for the purpose of robbing her.

While the assassin was searching for her hoard of money and jewels, Miss Koenigstein's pet parrot uttered several words which it had learned from its mistress.

Thinking that he heard a human voice, the assassin turned, and found a large sum of money under the bed.

Any man can buy tickets to the show, but it takes other qualities to let the right kind of girl to help him look at it.

Men Sold as Slaves

Human Beings Auctioned, as of Old in Market Towns of Morocco

Paris.—A most revolting picture presented by a correspondent of the Matin of the slave trade in Morocco.
Although the nefarious trade in human merchandise, as practiced by the corsairs and chow masters of the Mediterranean has long been stamped out, it still appears to flourish in the interior of Morocco.

Writing from Marrakech, which is stated to be the center of this traffic, the correspondent, a French woman doctor, says:

The slaves conveyed by caravans from the Soudan and Tadjik regions are usually either public property, or are brought to Marrakech or clandestinely

Sales take place in broad daylight.
Pinned in boxes running along a covered gallery, which serves as a market square in rainy weather, the unfortunate human cargo are exposed for three times a week.

Little by little the square fills with potential purchasers. When the sale is ready the dealers, or auctioneers, arrive on the scene, and with solemn prayer, open the market.

Prayers over, each dealer proceeds to sort out his proper lot of slaves.
He then replaces their miserable rags by a more decent attire, and follows at his heels by the groups of wretches and women, and the most heart-rending around the market place crying the virtues of his wares.

Interested purchasers now and again stop the perambulation and leisurely examine the goods, but the sight and scent and limbs of the human animal which may have attracted their attention.

The bargains being closed, the sale is duly attested by the adjutant and notaries. The price varies according to the sex, age and qualities of the slave.

I have seen a man, 25 years old, sold for $17. Girls from 10 to 12 years old bring from $75 to $100.
The highest price is paid for a woman who can cook.

Frequently happens that when a woman with a baby at the breast, or companion by the side, is brought into the market the buyer wishes to buy the woman only.

It is then that the most heart-rending scenes are witnessed, as the weeping mother is obliged to leave her child springing with brutal violence.

PALE ANAEMIC GIRLS

Find New Health Through Dr.

Williams' Pink Pills for

Pale People

There must be no guesswork in the treatment of pale, anaemic girls. Your daughter is languid, has a pale, sallow complexion, is nervous, and easily excited. If she has palpitation of the heart, a poor appetite, or a tendency to faint, she has anaemia, which means weakness, and may leave her weak and sickly for the rest of her life. No one can even prevent consumption, that most hopeless of diseases. When the blood is weak and watery, there is only one certain cure—that is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, composed of nourishing food and gentle out-door exercise.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood, which, Revived brought the vitality to the nerves, increases appetite, gives brightness to the eye, a glow of health to the cheek, and makes weak, despondent girls full of healthy energy.

The case of Miss J. M. Lassalle, Cornell, is typical of the cases cured by Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I was weak and run down, and my face was pale and covered with freckles. My lips were pale. I suffered from pains in my limbs, which would at times be swollen. I was brutally overworked, and my burden, as the least effort left me tired and breathless. I had no appetite, and notwithstanding that I was very pale, I was unable to grow worse all the time. One day mother said to me that I thought I tried to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to do so. I soon discovered that I had found the right medicine, and after using nine boxes I was once more enjoying the best of health, and I have not been unwell a day since."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 60 cents a box or six boxes for $3.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Room for Improvement

Mr. Seymour Hicks, who with Miss Ellen Terry is at the London Coliseum in a sketch over the holiday season, has been telling this story of one of his early stage experiences.

The heroine, whose acting was very bad, was supposed to be in a valley, and Mr. Hicks played the part of a shepherd, and he said that he of the scenes another character, referring to the heroine, asked him,
"Doctor, is there any hope?"

To which Mr. Hicks replied: "She will be better in the spring."

We hope to "heaven she will, garnished came a dismal voice from the sally."

Some men will tell the time of day by the sun, and some women tell the time of night by the moon.

But then will the good old times

A Marriage of Convenience

One of Mrs. Hugh Fraser's stories related to a peasant at Lethbridge, the home of Mrs. Fraser's sister, Mrs.
Rabe. The man's wife had died. She was buried with every mark of sympathy, and nothing was left undone to make the disconsolate widow comfortable. On the evening of the day of the funeral he presented himself at the house and asked to see Mrs. Fraser, saying that he had a favor to ask. Instantly Mrs. Fraser went to Mrs. Rabe. He begged him to state his wishes. Was there anything she could do to lessen his affliction?

Gracious lady, the truth is, he believed that his seriously run-down in his fingers. I have come to ask leave to marry her again. You see—But good gracious! exclaimed his mistress. Of course you may when the time comes.

Yes, but—I want to marry her, tonight, I stammered the man. I like this—
"What on earth do you mean?" asked his mistress. Why, your wife was only buried this morning! Surely you cannot entertain such a notion!

Indeed I am, gracious lady! was the answer. I have spoken to the parson, and she is willing to marry me this minute. If I only will give her permission. Before she has said I am to go to bed with my boots on—pointing to his tight-fitting top-boots and I can't pull them off myself, however hard I try. So unless I marry her, I am to put them off for ever.

Clergyman (laughing came to parish).
Your neighbor Smith says you're mad.

Parson—Ah, yes, indeed! mind him.
He's merely a mouthpiece for other folks.

The barmaid being closed, the sale is duly attested by the adjutant and notaries. The price varies according to the sex, age and qualities of the slave.

A Freak of Lightning

Lightning plays some peculiar tricks at times, but we have never heard of anything to come up to the following, which the Melbourne Argus properly labels an "extraordinary incident."

A young man while riding through the inner country at Willing district, a recent storm had a remarkable escape from death in peculiar circumstances.

A large tree directly in front of him was struck by lightning and split in halves. The horse he was riding, becoming terrified, started to leap over the gap between the halves of the tree. At that moment the lightning struck the horse's tail, like a rabbit trap, and crushed off a length of the horse's tail, which can now be seen protruding from the tree.
The young man received a severe shaking, but otherwise came through the ordeal safely.

Mr. J. L. Toole, a great anti-

About this there is a story told of him.
The value of Christmas evening, played under his windows, greatly to his annoyance, and to the annoyance they paid him a visit.

We played under your window last night, said the spokesman of the party when they were shown into his presence.

Well, and what do you want? quoth the comedian.
We've come for one little gratuity.
Come for a gratuity have you? exclaimed Mr. Toole. Yes, yes! I thought you had come to apologize.

HEADS HARBOR BOARD

W. G. ROSS IS AN OUTSTANDING FIGURE IN MONTREAL.

New Chief of Commission in Commercial Metropolis to Be a Star Bicycle Rider Before He Went into Business—Passed Through Street Railway Office Till He Reached the Top.

Greatest interest in the recent appointment of a new harbor commission for Montreal centered in the chairman, Mr. W. G. Ross. Until a few years ago he was known quite commonly as "Willie" Ross, which title, as his position became more and more prominent, was dropped for the more formal "W. G."

I have a recollection of seeing photographs of W. G. Ross with enough medals on his chest to draw a man, says a writer in Toronto Star, Sunday Night. These emblems of authority related to the athletic field, more especially, I think, to bicycle riding and carriage running. At W. G. he was of his early career.

W. G. ROSS.

...and some of the rest of his family could not be so easily won to the athletic. One brother held the record on everything up to a mile and record with 1.13 in the mile. They were all members of the M.A.A.A.

W. G. got some of his early experience in his father's office, he having associated himself with him later in about 1888. Some eight years later he became secretary-treasurer of the Windsor Hotel. Mr. George Ross, a well known literary character, was then manager, and associated with him also Mr. George Scott, who they say, could call all the guests by their first names. After some four years with the Windsor, he got into touch with Mr. James Ross, an ancient family ally, whose name was interesting him, and the street railway system, the city of Montreal, and are long in the employ of the company.

In the street railway there was no end of opportunity to employ his executive ability, and he rose to another until he became chief executive officer. He became controller of the system in 1880 and later on succeeded to the position of secretary-treasurer. Mr. T. W. Wankin was then general manager, and were very long before his appointment.

Mr. Ross then succeeded to this vacancy and became secretary of the railway. It was at this time that the railway was in the hands of James Ross and the hands of Senator Ross, who was the head of the concern through the Forster's regime, president, and only retired about the close of 1900, shortly after the purchase of the mill interests, which had just put the railway in the hands of the Montreal Street Railway and the Montreal Tramways and Power.

After resigning his position, Ross took a trip to the United States many months. Since his return, he has not taken any very prominent part in any of the business deals being effected in Montreal, save the one in the Amalgamated Asbestos mine, which he has been known to have accepted the presidency of the new concern, known as the Asbestos Corporation of Canada, Ltd. To this he has consented, and has been paying close attention to the affairs of the company in the hope of bringing it fully through to a successful issue.

When the question of the new Montreal board began to be discussed in Montreal circles, it was not long before the name of W. G. Ross was mentioned. It must have been no small satisfaction to him to see his name mentioned in the suggestion was received. He is a well known figure in the financial circles of Montreal, and in connection therewith involves the possession of means of analysis, and in connection therewith involves the possession of means of analysis, and in connection therewith involves the possession of means of analysis.

For the coming few years' work on the harbor board, Mr. Ross is a young man of life, being now just fifty years of age.

Destiny of the Stuarts.

BESSEMER CENTENARY.

January 15th. Marked a Notable Anniversary.

January 15 is the centenary of the birth of Sir Henry Bessemer, commemorated to the inventor of the Bessemer process of making steel, by which process steel is produced so cheaply that it can be used for rails, bridges, skyscrapers, warships, and many other things.

Henry Bessemer was English, born in Warrington, Lancashire. He received his mechanical instruction in the type foundry of a railway company, which made his fortune. His first invention was an improved method of stamping steel, or a process for copying his own work, and he was the first to produce a steel from a hot metal at a cost of one penny.

It was a process by which any office with average intelligence could force almost all the expensive stamps affixed to documents, and it was from the sale of these stamps that the Bessemer process was first introduced.

TRUTH ABOUT BENNETT

ENGLISH AUTHOR HAS HAD A REMARKABLE CAREER.

His First Literary Success Was the Winning of a Prize a Popular Weekly Competition and Since That Time He Has Gone on Steadily to Win Prizes in Every Branch of His Art.

About twenty-three years ago London was invaded by a young, somewhat provincial, but who could not make up his mind what particular niche in the world he could not occupy. He had tried to be a poet, but he had not made much progress in his studies.

He had dabbed in literature for local papers; wrote startling sensational articles, and paragraphs and articles which editors were pleased to publish, and for pay. He had also endeavored to follow in the footsteps of his father, Queen of Persia in a Plight in an English Royal Garden.

In his book of memories Major-General Owen Tudor Burns tells a story of the visit of a shah of Persia to England.

The shah wanted to see a princess, with blood, after much anxious thought and consultation with Lord Salisbury, he decided to take a half an hour before the shah was to receive Lord Salisbury and the British ambassador.

After the Christmas party they both felt very pleased with themselves and things in general.

But! together in a cozy little alcove, and lyrically to look his eyes in both hands—and proposed.

There was no hesitation on the lady's part as she accepted, and a moment later they occupied but one chair whilst she nestled closely to his manly breast. Suddenly she started, frowned, and looked him full in the face.

Albert, she said, you are untrue to me! You are playing a game with me!

Darling, he replied, what faces at me! she thundered indignantly.

I can't help it, she muttered sadly. My eyes-lashes are falling off and I don't want to let go of your dear little hand.

A Lovestoff Smuggling Story

Of the many strange stories told in connection with the exploits of the smuggling fraternity on the east coast, and of the most singular in perhaps which is connected with Lovestoff, and the substance of which is as follows:

About September, 1905, the then Rector of Lovestoff was visited late at night by a sailor, who informed the good man that he came from a fishing boat in the harbor to request his administration for a certificate who was going on board.

So earnest was the visitor in his entreaties that, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, the Rector, dressed in his nightgown, and wearing a cap and a pair of slippers, went to the door to whom he administered the certificate.

On the following evening the visitor again appeared at the Rectory, and stated that his partner had died during the day and that his last wish was that he should be interred in Lovestoff Churchyard, adding further that as the vessel was obliged to leave at a special time of the tide, he would like to be buried on the following morning.

NAVAL ESTIMATES NEAR COMPLETION

Britain Will Spend vast Sum on Programme—New Series of Progress.

London—According to the Daily Mail, the British Admiralty has now estimated the cost of the new programme of naval construction for the coming year.

The one point not mentioned in the programme, namely, whether five or six battleships shall be laid down during the year, is left to the programme.

If the Admiralty decides to lay down five battleships, the cost of the programme will be £24,000,000, and if six, £26,000,000.

The programme also includes the construction of eight armored cruisers, twenty destroyers, a number of submarines, and an addition to the personnel of 5,000 men, making a total of 147,500 officers and men.

The battleships will be of a new type, the largest and strongest which has ever been built. They will displace 27,000 tons, have a speed of 24 knots, and will be armed with 12-inch guns.

They will be armed in all probability with eight 14-inch guns, each having a range of 14,000 yards, and will be protected by a belt of armor 14 inches thick.

Look for Better Times in Spain

Madrid—Governmental reforms almost revolutionary in their character have been proposed by King Alfonso, and Republicans are jubilant.

It was learned that Anasario, the Republican leader, had been granted a pardon by the King.

He promised immediately to attend the old age pension system, greatly liberalize the educational system, reduce the expenses of Spain's military program, establish religious tolerance, and bring into being many other reforms which Republicans long have sought.

I am thoroughly convinced of King Alfonso's sincerity, and I am sure that the reforms which he has proposed will be carried out.
